

Medicine By Nature

WWW.INF-GREEN.COM

*Images for illustration only.

The Health of your Bees is in our Hands.

The First Natural Alternative For Pollen

In the wild, bees typically obtain their protein needs from pollen gathered from flowers. Pollen is collected by bees and transferred to the wax hive, where it is stored in a particular food mixture known as "pollen paste." Other nutritional supplements may be included.

The lack of pollen during harsh weather periods was a major motivator for creating and producing a product that focuses on the need to maintain beehives. This inspired us to do continuous research on the composition of pollen and nectar from various flowers until we had a sufficient understanding of the composition of the "Bee Pollen Paste." As a result, we developed Fonda Forte, a product formulated with natural materials that contain a high percentage of proteins, vitamins, minerals, and essential fatty acids that are found in bee pollen paste, in addition to natural immune and digestive system boosters (Bees Forte).

Fonda Forte is essential for bees for many different reasons, the most important of which are:

Promote the development of young bees and larvae.

Compensation for natural feed lack.

Improve work efficiency while increasing energy and bee activity.

Improve the bee's health and resistance to illness.

Significant increase in honey yield

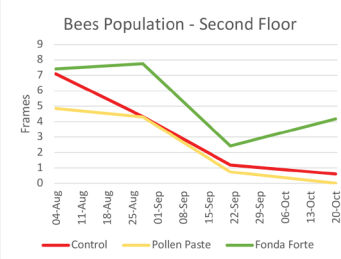

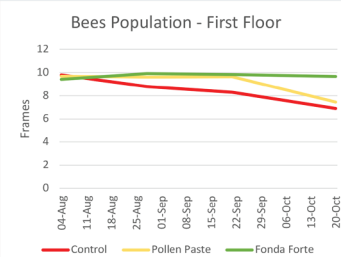

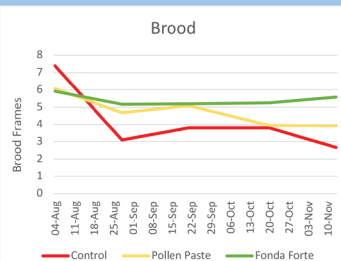

Serves in enhancing the activity of the queen's breeding.

Our product has undergone extensive testing to assure its purity and efficiency. These trials are conducted in stages to guarantee that the product performs to the highest standards. The raw components are evaluated in the first stage for compliance with prescribed requirements, safety, and quality. The finished product was examined in our own apiary using internationally recognized and verified testing methods. Following that, the product was rigorously tested in various locations along with professional beekeeper to ensure its performance in actual use conditions.

After monitoring the product's performance and carefully evaluating its effectiveness and safety, it went through a comprehensive and recent documented examination

Note: The detailed and documented experience of the Ministry of Agriculture will be sent upon request.

Graphs illustrating the experiment's results in area 2.

Graphs illustrating the experiment's results in area 1.

